but he transmits the translation of an article prepared for him by Senor Manuel del Busto, chief of the agricultural experiment station in Munila.

The most remarkable feature of the report is the almost hopeless picture painted of the conditions prevailing in the island.

The great fertility of the soil is pointed out, and it is said that, in only a few restricted areas, where three crops a year have been gathered without interruption for several centuries, is there any apparent need of fertilizers. In spite of this, all attempts at colonization have failed, either through the poor class of emigrants secured, the financial instability of the various companies or the corruption or oppression of the governors and government's agents. The result is that the middle and lower classes in the islands are almost of the worst possible type.

In addition to this primary difficulty in securing reliable labor, the agriculturist is confronted at the start with the necesity for an immense amount of work in clearing new lands. When this is accomplished and a luxurient crop raised, it is at the mercy in the financial company M.

He, therefore, desired the volunteers who had borne the hardship of the campaign to have the glory of accomplishing this purpose, and to have them come bome to receive a demonstrative reception at the hands of their fellow citizens as the conquerors of the Filipinos. Although there are only twenty-four Russian steamships of over 2,600 tons, and of them only four are over fourteen knots, the Russian government during 1858 expended over $1,000,000 on its seagoing steamships. To increase its navigation on the Pacific, the Russian government for the next ten years will pay Suez canal dues, as the Austrian government has done for some time, on national merchant steamships. The restriction of the coasting trade of the empire, whether the ports are on the Baitic or Black seas, or the Pacific, to Russian vessels will not affect appreciably American navigation, as for the last two years no American vessel has entered this country from or cleared for European Russia, and last year only four American sailing vessels entered from and cleared for Russian ports on the Pacific. mon pleas court, of Kansas City, Kas., a brother of Maxfield, yesterday wired Adjutant General Corbin for further particulars, and received an answer last night stating that a cablegram would be sent to General Otts for a verification of the name. His long locks, hanging almost to his shoulders, and his loose sailor trousers always attract attention to the eloquent orator of Western Oklahoma. Mr. Houston is fully imbued with the idea that the "west side" of the territory is God's own country, and he is careful to advertise that opinion when he is away from home. COLONEL YOUNG OUSTED.

Asked to Resign as Superintendent of the Soldiers' Orphans' Home.

TOPEKA, June 20 .- (Special.) Colone W. H. H. Young to-day, by request of the state board of charities, tendered his resignation as superintendent of the Soidiers' Orphans' home, at Atchison, to take effect August 1. The resignation was demanded after a two days' investigation by the board. Last Saturday Olive Groh, an orphan in the institution, made the charge that Superintendent Young had made in decent proposals to her. The board im-mediately went to Atchison to investigate the matter. It found that the charge was unfounded and exonerated Young. But during the investigation the board discov-ered that he had been guilty of a number of indiscretions in other matters, and decided that it would be better for all concerned if he were deposed as superintendent.

In accordance with this decision, the board last night addressed the following letter to Young:

"Dear Sir:—After having carefully considered the testimony of about twenty-five witnesses, bearing upon the charge of misconduct of yourself toward Olive Groh, a former inmate of the home, our verdict is that the charge is not sustained by the evidence.

"However, we believe you have committed, innocently perhaps, such acts of indiscretion in other matters as to impair your efficiency and influence as superintendent to such an extent as to warrant us in asking you to tender your resignation, to take effect not later than August I."

The letter was delivered to Young by President Hornaday. This morning, just before the board left Atchison for Topeka, Young wrote out his resignation and handed it to Hornaday. It reads:

"In compliance with the your request, I hereby tender my resignation as superintendent of the Soldiers' Orphans' home, to take effect August I."

In speaking about the matter, President Hornaday said that there was absolutely no truth in the charge made by the Groh woman, but that Young did eather there

Hornaday said that there was absolutely no truth in the charge made by the Groh woman, but that Young did other things, not of an indecent nature, but of such a character as to make him an improper person to run the institution.

The board has not yet decided upon a successor. It is generally believed, however, that Charles E. Faulkner, for many years superintendent of that institution, but now in charge of a similar institution in Minnesota, will be elected superintendent.

"The full exploitation of these far Eastern markets and opportunities applies almost in the same measure to New England, to the Middle states, to the South and to the great Central West. In other words, the whole country, east and west, north and south, is vitally concerned in the expansion of American commerce and influence throughout the Pacific seas. If the far East wants the flour, the timber, and other food and manufactured products of the Pacific coast, it wants also the cotton goods and the raw cotton of the South; the manufactured iron, steel and miscellaneous products, as well as the petroleum of the Middle states; and it wants the similar products, together possibly, with the maize or Indian meal, and flour of the great Central West."
